MONDAY MORNING NOVEMBER 12, 1866.

THE REPUBLICAN'S NEWS AL-WAYN RELIABLE. A New York Times correspondent, who

nes to know all the Government secrets and obtains them, as he undoubtedly wishes the proprietors of the Times to believe, for appearance "originally and exclusively" in that paper, is getting unusually forgetful about his own declarations, and unnecessarily sensitive about some of our editorials.

Within two weeks a half dozen leading papers in the country contained, on the samday, a sensation announcement that Mr. STANTON had asked to be relieved as Secretary of War, and requested to be sent as Minister to Spain, in place of John P. Hale, and that Licut. Gen. Sherman was to be jumped over the head of his superior officer. Gen. GRANT, and put into the War Office. We authoritatively denied the statement. The Times correspondent flew into a passion; fathered the sensation dispatch for all the papers; pitched into the REPUBLICAN, as an reliable journal, having no authority to deny the statement, &c., &c. Time has verithe REPUBLICAN, and taught the correspondent a valuable lesson. Mr. HALE remains in Spain, Mr. Stanton in the War Office, and Lieut. Gen. SHERMAN is on his way to Mexico.

Finding himself mistaken, and discovering accidentally where Gen. Surnway was destined, and being unable to keep a "Government secret," the correspondent of the Times precipitates upon the market another sensan Mexican-bond-speculating dispatch, not to a Philadelphia, Boston, and Cincinnati paper, as well as to the Times.

While a portion of the dispatch was true. as going to Mexico with Mr. CAMPBELL was the Liberal Government of Mexico had asked for a protectorate, and that our Government had agreed to grant the request, and that we were to receive in return large portions of Northern Mexico, &c., &c., &c., was, as we were authorized to declare, and did declare, 'mere fancy work.'

The Government was embarrassed by the premature announcement made by the correspondent, and, by request, without intending to impugn the motives of the correspondent, but to serve the Government, we printed the following in the REPUBLICAN in our issue of October 25, ultimo:

of October 25, ultimo:
"It is astonishing how 'diplomatic' some Washington correspondents are getting about our foreign affairs. They not only appear to develop all that they know and hope to be true, but much that ought not to be made public if it were true, and much that is without the slightest foundation in truth. It is only recessive to an expensive true. truth. It is only necessary to say, on this matter, that it is not the practice of the Govmatter, that it is not the practice of the Gov-ernment to present its foreign policy to the public through the newspapers before it is fully developed; and especially would it be unwise to announce treaties, whether em-bracing in their text protectorates or acqui-sition of territory, before such treaties are agreed upon by the principal parties con-cerned."

We assert that the above paragraph is respectful, as it was intended to be. It accomplished the object for which it was written. The italics will show that we did not labor to prove that the Times' and other dispatches were, as the correspondent now alleges, "without foundation in fact." recollects "a part of two stories." He mistakes our denial about Gen. Sherman's going into the War Office for what we said about the Mexican "expedition," "treaty," "protectorate," &c. If he cannot discriminate between his sensation paragraphs with which he feeds the lightnings daily, he should keep an index clerk, and not misrepresent us, not get cross at us for telling him the truth and an index clerk, and not misrepresent us, not get cross at us for telling him the truth and occasionally setting him right.

And we respectfully request the correspondent of the Times not to telegraph to that paper any more that the Republican "assumes to be the organ of the Administration." We assume nothing of the kind. The Republican is now, as it has always been, "INDEPENDENT IN EVERYTHING—NETHAL IN NOTHING." We have been independent to comply to express our honest sentiments.

All Hennicutt, one of the Torche and Turpentine troopers, has left Richmond for plainted plaints. The first sent to correspondent of the Times and to to telegraph to that paper any more that the Republican is now, as it has always been, "To this end a monthly return should be insisted upon and the same care should be taken as under the form law, to ascertain its correctness. Southern Destitution.-In consequence of the failure of crops, a belt of the Southern country, extending from North Carolina to Texas, and embracing the northern and central portions of those States, and also of South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana, is threatened with famine before the maturity of next year's crops. The civil authorities of those States, aided in some cases by the United States military forces, are taking what measures they can to provide a supply of food, but it seems probable that these precautions will be inadequate to meet the wants of the people of the extended section of country threatened with

Decision of the Second Comptroller. The claim of seamen to be indemnified for clothing destroyed on account of infection does not rest upon any state, but upon decisions of the Secretary of the Navy. On the 12th of July, 1842, Secretary Upshur allowed the claim of a seaman for clothing delowed the claim of a seaman for clothing destroyed to prevent small-pox infection, and in October, 1844, an allowance of a similar claim was made. These precedents have governed, but the question now arises what sum should be fixed as the maximum in such allowances. On this subject it is held by the proper accounting officer of the Treasury that the action of Congress in analagous cases should govern. On the 4th of July, 1864, Congress enacted "That persons not officers whose personal effects were lost on board a United States vessel destroyed should be allowed a sum not exceeding sixty dollars each as compensation for their loss;" and on the 6th of April, 1866, an act was passed giving to every officer who had lost his personal effects on board a United States vessel giving to every officer who had lost his sonal effects on board a United States v sonal effects on board a United States vessel which by any casualty or in action, &c., has been sunk or destroyed, a sum not exceeding the amount of his sea pay for one month. This legislation sufficiently indicates the in-This legislation sufficiently indicates the intention of Congress to pay for no more clothing than was absolutely necessary, and not to effect an insurance of whatever might be lost. One month's pay will, therefore, be the maximum allowed for officers, and sixty dollars to other persons, whose clothing may be destroyed under circumstances entitling them to compensation.

WASHINGTON, KOVEMBER D, 1868.

Payments for interest arising in settlement of seven-thirty notes sent to the Secretary of the Treasury for conversion into United States six percent. bonds, (act of March 3d, 1852.) should be made either in currency or by national bank drafts, drawn on any other national bank in this or any of the four principal Atlantic cities, which, when collected, will be received in payment of said interest.

When the remittance for such interest is sent in the same enclosure with the notes forwarded for conversion the amount should be specified in the letter, advising transmission of the notes, and the currency or the draft enclosed on an envelope addressed to "Treasurer to 18," with the contents marked on the outside.

Drafts for payment of interest should in all cases be made payable to the Treasurer, United States.

Remittances for such interest, when not sent with the notes, should be forwarded directly to Treasurer, United States.

Parties sending seven-thirty notes for conversion should state the denominations of bonds required, and whether they with registered or coupon bond. If registered stock is requested, the parties should be particular and state at which of the following places they desire the interest payable: Washington, D. C., New York, Philadelphia, Boston, New Orlean, St. Louis, Baltimore, Cinchinati, or Chicago.

Seven-thirty notes sent to this Department for conversion should be forwarded to the Secretary of the Treasury, to whom all letters in regard to the conversion of said notes should be addressed.

CAPTAIN HALL AND SIR JOHN FRANKLIN. The captain and part of the crew of the American whaling ship Antelope, which was lost last October, near Neantelik Island, has arrived at St. John's. The Commercial Journal of that town says:

"The officers of the Antelope bring interesting information of discoveries made by Mr. C. F. Hall respecting the Franklin expedition. Mr. Hall has in his possession a gold watch, some silver spoons, and other relies supposed to have belonged to the Franklin party. He also learned that the remains of some of Franklin's men were The United States steamer Ticonderoga left

THE EAGLE SCREAMS.—The Albany Jour nal and Argus, newspapers of opposite political opinions, are the joint owners of a cut of an enormous eagle, which eagle makes its of an enormous eagle, which eagle makes its appearance on a page of one of the papers after each election. In 1862, the eagle screamed for Seymour in the Argus; but every year since it has spread its wings in the Journal for the Republican party. It makes its appearance, as usual, in the Journal, to celebrate this year's Republican victory in New York State; and is the best specimen of a politician that we know of—always on the winning side.—Phila.
